The marriage of Miss Marjorie Comingo Jones, younger daughter of Dean and Mrs. J. C. Jones, 1323 Wilson avenue, to Patterson Bain, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Bain, near Columbia, took place at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Samuel R. Braden, assisted by the Rev. Norman L. Euwer of St. Louis, read the marriage service, using the ring ceremony.

The wedding party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Caroline Jesse. The two candle lighters, Miss Kate Thompson of St. Louis and Miss Katherine Conley, entered, dressed in white net dresses, Miss Thompson wearing a blue tulle sash and Miss Conley a pink tulle sash. The sashes were draped to form loops on the sides, the folds hanging to the lower edges of the skirts. The candles which lined the chancel were arranged in tiers on a background of simlax.

A yellow color note was carried out throughout the wedding decorations. Jonquils in wicker baskets and goldenbells in tall, gold baskets tied with gold-colored ribbons edged the chancel, which was banked with palms and ferns. The freshness and daintiness of the flowers and the costumes were suggestive of spring.

Mrs. Lloyd Jones and Lee Ustick of St. Louis led the wedding procession. Mrs. Jones wore a gown of white satin with a sash of lavender tulle and bodice of iridescent. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The next bridesmaid to enter was Miss Catherine Bain, with George Miltenberger of St. Louis. Miss Bain wore a gown of white satin with a pale green sash and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Adeline Jesse and Augustus Cohen of Texas entered next. Miss Jesse's gown was of the same material of the other bridesmaids and she wore a yellow tulle sash and carried sweet peas.

Mrs. George Hearne, matron of honor, was gowned in orchid with trimmings of real lace. She carried a bride's bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Katherine Jones as maid of honor was beautifully dressed in a rainbow gown of tulle, a combination of the colors used in the gowns of the other attendants. A long rose-colored tulle veil added the finishing touch to the delicate hues of the costume and was a climax for the rainbow color scheme of the gowns.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Dean J. C. Jones, who gave her in marriage. The bride's wedding gown was of white satin with trimmings of Dutch lace. The bridal train of white satin, over which a tulle veil, worn by the bride's mother when she was married, was draped. She wore a coronet of real lace, held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony, Miss Kate Thompson, Miss Katherine Conley, Bryan Wilson of Mexico and Myron Watkins, and Major Lloyd Jones joined the wedding procession.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding at the Daniel Boone Tavern. The mezzanine floor and dining room were decorated with yellow jonquils and simlax. Miss Miller and Miss Virginia McAlester assisted at the punch bowl on the mezzanine floor. The pages were: Misses Mary Susan Estes, Jennie Hockaday, Rosemary Belcher and Sabra Niedermyer. Ice cream in shapes of slippers, bells and hearts were served. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were: Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Bain, Sr., Dean and Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. L. E. Thompson, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. William Ustick. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Rosemary Belcher. Three hundred guests attended the reception and dance.

The bride was graduated from the University in 1917 with the honor of Phi Beta Kappa. She was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. After finishing school Mrs. Bain toured the Orient with Dean and Mrs. E. R. James. She has been one of the most popular members of Columbia society. Mr. Bain was graduated from the School of Engineering here. Afterward, he received a scholarship at Cornell University, where he received his masters degree in engineering. He spent several years in the Panama Canal Zone before the war. He was in the service until the armistice was signed, returning then to make his home in Columbia.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bain will be at home at Riverview Lodge during the spring and summer. They will move into town in the fall as Mr. Bain is connected with the Short Course in the College of Agriculture.

Columbia friends have received the announcement of the marriage of Miss Helen Goodrich of Hillsdale, Mich., to Charles Whelan on March 2. Miss Goodrich was a student in the School of Journalism of the University in the fall term.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Brewer of Lansing, Mich., announce the birth of a son, Chester, Jr., on March 2. Mr. Brewer was formerly athletic director in the University.

Mrs. William M. Marsailles of Clinton is visiting her daughter, Miss Alice Adelia Marsailles, at the Phi Mu house. She will remain until the latter part of the week.

Miss Parilee Stewart of St. Joseph who has been visiting her sister, Miss Henrietta Stewart, at the Phi Beta Phi house, returned home this morning.

The dinner guests yesterday at the Farm house were: Misses Helen Sheldrup, Henrietta Stewart, Thelma Hartman, Gladys Hartman of St. Louis, Parilee Stewart of St. Joseph and Elizabeth Lewis of St. Louis.

Coleman.

The members of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority gave an informal dance at the Daniel Boone Tavern Friday night. The ballroom was decorated to represent a garden of spring flowers and foliage. The chaperons were: Mrs. J. M. Limerick, Mrs. Ella Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Ransom, Mrs. Jim Tatum, Mrs. Elizabeth Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Whitbread and Dean and Mrs. F. B. Mumford.

Mrs. C. B. Miller, Stewart road and Glenwood avenue, entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday for the members of the Jones-Bain wedding party. The dining room table was artistically decorated with a miniature kewpie bride and groom forming the centerpiece. Snapdragons in silver baskets were placed on each side of the bridal couple. The wedding suggestions were used to mark the places for the thirty guests.

Mrs. James Garth, 402 College avenue, will entertain at 1 o'clock luncheon tomorrow for her sister, Miss Anny Barck of St. Louis and Mrs. Horace Smith, a bride of this season. A color-note of yellow will be carried out. Jonquils in a wicker basket will form the centerpiece for the serving table, on which softly shaded yellow candles will be placed. The guests will be: Mrs. C. C. Bowling, Mrs. C. B. Bowling, Miss Juliet Bowling and Miss Dorothy Heintzelman of Washington, D. C., Mrs. J. L. Stephens, Mrs. Ben M. Anderson, Mrs. W. T. Anderson, Mrs. M. L. Lipscomb, Jr., Mrs. T. Kent Caron, Mrs. Emmett Smith, Mrs. Will E. Smith, Mrs. Berry McAlester, Mrs. John E. Sykes, Mrs. J. P. McBaine, Mrs. A. F. Easter---

The Day of New Things Is Less Than Three Weeks Away

The day of religious joy—the festival of universal happiness—the celebration of the Spring awakening to new life—the typification of the earth clothing itself anew in bursting buds of green and color. The time when all living things leave old things behind and put on everything new.

The earth casts off its drab habiliments of winter and dons the verdant green, birds molt their old feathers and take on the new growth of spring. Animals shed the old fur and all mankind puts aside the apparel of winter, and dons the lighter things of spring.

And Easter Day has for ages demanded that Everything that is worn on that day shall be Spic—Span—new—Nothing Old, however fine and good, can be permitted to taint the immaculate Newness of the personal apparel worn on Easter Day. The frock and underthings may be simplicity itself, but they Must Be Immaculately New.

John H. Estes

And so we are ready to serve our people for Easter.

The whole store, from top to bottom is an exposition of the New things of Spring—

The Millinery that is so important—the New Dresses and Suits—the Latest Spring Wraps—the New Blouses—the New Neckwear and Stockings—the New Gloves and Handkerchiefs.

Everything is ready, and at its Best Right Now. Come.

At the Style Show tonight will be shown some of the season's newest fashions—which is only a suggestion of the many models now being shown in our store. Come.
